In today's Gospel Jesus tells the story of a man who was beat up by some robbers. They stole his stuff, hurt him, and left him alone on the road. Then a priest saw the man, but he did not help. Next a religious guy saw the man, but he too walked away without helping. Finally a nice man from a place called Samaria came and saw the man. This Samaritan took pity on the guy who was robbed. He gave his own wine and oil to help the man, and even took him to a place where the man would be taken care of.

Which of these three helped the man who was robbed?

The lawyer told Jesus that this is what is what the bible tells us to do.

“You shall love the -7- your -4-with all your -2- and with all your
-5- and with all your -3- and with all your -8-, and your -1- as -6-.”

Jesus told him, he was right.

Luke 10:25-28
